An exchange well remarks: No body of Christians can justly assume to be the entire church, much less exclude from the pale of salvation all who are not in cluded in their number. The Roman Catholic theory affixes the attribute of individual and Christ stands a fully or ganised self-perpetuating body of priests through whose offices alone the soul can come into the possession of the bless ings of salvation. This is the Roman Catholic doctrine. In the Protestant dectrine, the laity stand in no such de pendence on a priestly order. Every disciple has the right of immediate access to God; none can debar him from a direct approach to the Redeemer. The of ficers of the church are set apart among their brethren, for the performance of certain duties, but the clergy are not distinct and superior order, clothed with mediatorial functions. The sufficiency of the great sacrifice of Christ once made dispenses with such a supplement as is ought in the repeated sacrifice of the Mass by Roman Catholics,

The Baltimore (Catholic) News prints the following: "Bertin, Feb. 17.—Dis-patches from Bome say that the utmost indignation prevails in Vatican circles in Rome over the Barnett immigration . Italian, Austrian and Hun garian Catholic immigrants would be those mainly affected by the bill, it is stated, and at least 55 per cent of Italians would be excluded by the literacy test and 40 per cent of Austro-Hungar ians. AN OPEN LETTER

BY W. S. LITTLE.

O the editorial staff of Tun MESack and the men and women on the Firing Line, "called and chosen and faithful:" Greeting Did you notice the despatch from Rome of February 3* And do you see prophetic setting as related to Rev. It is a most luminous comment upon this prophecy, and it shows that the Scripture verse, "For she saith in her heart, I sit a queen and am no widow and in no wire shall see mourning," is about to end.
